GENERAL NEWS.

An Uneventful Day at the National Capital.

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.

A Very Gloomy Outlook for the Home Rule Bill—A Probability of the Measure being Withdrawn—Old World Notes.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Among the petitions presented in the senate to-day was one from a dozen citizens of Iowa, presented by Allison, praying for abolition of "the American house of lords;" referred.

Frye, from the committee on commerce, reported favorably his bill to limit the privileges of foreign vessels in ports of the United States to the privileges accorded vessels of the United States in foreign ports. Frye said he would, at the proper time, move this bill as an amendment to the house shipping bill; placed on the calendar.

The following bill was passed: "To authorize the Kansas City, Fort Scott & Gulf railway to build a railroad through Indian territory."

At 2 o'clock the general pension bill was placed before the senate, and Vest took the floor.

After debate, without action on the pension bill, the senate went into executive session and soon adjourned.

CONFIRMATIONS.

S. T. Hauser, governor of Montana; T. J. Healy, assistant treasurer of the United States at Chicago; J. P. Kimball, director of the mint; W. D. Robinson, supervising inspector of steam vessels for the ninth district; Charles Warren, register of the land office at Walla Walla. Receivers of public moneys: J. W. Leigh, San Francisco; W. M. Garrard, at Cheyenne, Wyo.; Thomas E. Kelly, marshal for the district of Nevada.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—After the transaction of routine business the house went into committee of the whole on the private calendar.

A bill for extension of a patent gave rise to a debate. There was a disposition shown to lengthen out the tariff debate, but a protest was made and business was proceeded with. The committee rose after reporting several bills, and the house adjourned.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

OREGON AND THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The senate committee on commerce to-day commenced consideration of the river and harbor bill. The total amount of appropriations, as the bill came from the house, was about 33 per cent. of the estimates submitted by the secretary of war. The appropriations, however, are not uniform. In Oregon, for instance, Coos bay gets less than [illegible] per cent. of the original amount asked for, the mouth of the Columbia only about 10 per cent., the Cascades and locks less than 28 per cent., the lower Willamette less than [illegible] per cent., and other improvements still less. Yaquina bay, however, has 16 per cent. of the estimates.

Senator Dolph, recognizing the importance of this improvement, will do all he can in justice to other portions of his state to increase it in the senate committee, as he did appropriations for this work two years ago, but it will be difficult to do so, as the amount as appropriated by the house is now larger in proportion than that for other important points. In view of this showing, the assertions recently made in some of the Oregon papers that Dolph can force the senate committee to increase the appropriation for Yaquina bay are considered very ill-timed, and calculated to injure his influence with the committee, to the disadvantage of Oregon improvements.

COMMITTEE NOTES.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The senate committee on appropriations has authorized Logan to report back the military academy appropriation bill without amendment.

The house committee on postoffices and post-roads has agreed to recommend non-concurrence in the "subsidy amendment," and that appropriating $8000 for pay of the postal car service, added by the senate to the postoffice appropriation bill. All the other senate amendments are concurred in. All the democratic members of the committee present voted against the subsidy amendment, and all the republican members, except Gunther and Wakefield, for it.

The senate committee on commerce this morning ordered a favorable report on Hoar's resolution, which requires the committee to make a report showing public necessity for each item of expenditure in the river and harbor bill.

The senate committee on territories has ordered a favorable report on Vest's bill defining the boundaries of Yellowstone park providing that it shall hereafter be under the sole and exclusive jurisdiction of the United States, and authorizing the secretary of the interior to make and publish rules and regulations for the care of the park.

THE EADS SHIP RAILWAY BILL.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The bill reported from the senate committee on commerce in aid of the Eads ship railway, limited the liability of the United States to $7,500,000 to commence only when the road is completed and its practicability demonstrated. The United States is to guarantee that two-thirds of the net income will amount annually to $[illegible] for five years after completion of the road not exceeding in the aggregate $7,500,000, but has no interest in the company or in the road. It is claimed by friends of the bill that the United States will not be called upon for any sum under the guarantee. The minority of the committee, among whom are Senators Dolph and McMillan, did not join in the report or favor the bill. Senator Dolph says, however, that he is seriously considering whether the interests of the Pacific coast do not require that he shall support the bill in the senate, inasmuch as he considered the Nicaragua canal project suspended, so long at least as there is a democratic administration.

BILL RELATING TO SEAL ROCKS.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Senator Stanford introduced in the senate to-day a bill to grant the right and title of the United States in Seal rocks, and the right to seals resorting there, to the city of San Francisco, in trust for the United States, on condition that the city shall hold said rocks inalienable for all time and shall commit to the commissioners of Golden Gate park the custody and care thereof.

INSANE.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—An unknown man, supposed to be insane, undressed himself in one of the niches near statuary hall in the capitol this morning, and in a condition of stark nudity sprang upon one of the pedestals and struck a statuesque attitude. He was taken away by the capitol police and placed under arrest.

THE KILLING OF CAPT. CRAWFORD.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—It is not likely that the department of state will make any further investigation of the killing of Capt. Crawford, for the reason that consular officers have no facilities for obtaining accurate information on the subject.

FOREIGN DISPATCHES.

BRITISH POLITICS.

MEETING OF HOME RULE OPPONENTS.

LONDON, May 14.—At a meeting at the office of Lord Hartington, held to-day for the purpose of cementing the whig and radical opposition to the home rule bill, sixty-four attended, including Chamberlain, Trevelyan and Caine. Hartington explained the reasons why liberals should oppose the Gladstone measure. The meeting adopted a resolution declaring that those present would oppose the second reading of the home rule bill. The meeting lasted half an hour. Hartington in his speech declared that pledges from liberals to oppose Gladstone's home rule bill were sufficient in number to make its defeat on the second reading certain. He said it would cast a heavy responsibility on him, which, however, he was quite prepared to accept.

HOME RULE NOTES.

LONDON, May 14.—It is stated that Mr. John Bright will absent himself from the house of commons on the occasion of division on the second reading of the home rule bill. His example will be sure to have influence on other members.

More firearms have been sold in Londonderry in the past three months than were sold during the previous five years. Orders have just been given there for 1000 new rifles.

Crowded meetings of Orangemen were held to-day at Newry and Mourne, at which pledges were given not to submit to a Dublin parliament, and not to pay taxes. All present enrolled themselves for military service as volunteers. Canadian Orangemen promise support.

A VERY GLOOMY OUTLOOK.

LONDON, May 14.—Lord Hartington's "whips" report that 100 liberals have pledged themselves to vote against the home rule bill, and that thirty are doubtful. Conservative leaders advise conservatives in the house of commons not to speak during the debate as they wish to hasten the division on the second reading. It is rumored that Mr. Gladstone is consulting with his colleagues upon the advisability of withdrawing the home rule bill.

MEETING OF NATIONALISTS.

LONDON, May 14.—Nationalist members of parliament this afternoon had a secret meeting in the house of commons. Mr. Parnell presided. It is understood that he laid before the assemblage a number of communications from Mr. Gladstone suggesting certain modifications in the home rule bill and further concessions to the demands of the radicals.

AMMUNITION SENT TO DUBLIN.

LONDON, May 14.—The government has forwarded 2,000,000 rounds of ball and ammunition to Dublin.

ITALY.

THE CHOLERA EPIDEMIC.

ROME, May 14.—At Venice to-day there were reported seven new cases of cholera and three deaths; at Bari, five new cases and nine deaths, and at Brindisi one new case and one death.

THE FISHERIES TROUBLE.

The Contest Over the Seized American Schooner at Digby.

DIGBY, N. S., May 14.—Capt. Scott, of the steamer Lansdowne, accompanied by the queen's solicitor, in the case of the schooner David J. Adams, arrived to-day from Halifax. Soon after their arrival a warrant to seize the schooner was received by the sheriff of Digby by mail, and under instructions of the solicitor she was seized by the sheriff, who boarded the vessel and nailed the warrant to the mast. The warrant was issued by the vice-admiralty court, and acts on the vessel and her cargo the same as acts on an individual about to leave the province, that is she is now in custody of the high sheriff of the county of Digby, as the county marshal of the vice-admiralty court. The Adams is now held by the customs authorities and the sheriff, and it is conjectured that the Lansdowne will proceed to sea to-night or to-morrow morning, to look after more bait buyers. All of the commissions have been distributed for the cruisers, and a dispatch has arrived for the commission of officer W. O. Hodges, of Digby, to prepare to take charge of the cruise. Several fishermen belonging to the United States are seeking bait in the bay.

The Adams has been moored to the wharf; her sails have been taken off and two men placed on guard. Counsel have been retained by Consul-Gen. Phelan to defend the case against the schooner. Phelan to-day received a letter from Capt. Scott. He declines to make known its contents, but admits that it is in reply to a demand addressed by him to Capt. Scott, on Tuesday, asking for the delivery of the Adams and an explanation of the proceedings with regard to the vessel. The consul will forward to Washington to-morrow morning his statement of the whole affair, accompanied by depositions of Capt. Kinney and his crew, and other documents regarding the seizure which have come into his possession. It is believed the matter will not come before the courts here for three or four weeks.

THE TALLAPOOSA WAITING.

NEW YORK, May 14.—The United States dispatch steamer Tallapoosa is still anchored off Staten Island. It is rumored that she is detailed to carry dispatches between the cabinet at Washington and the commanders of war vessels that have been ordered home, should there be trouble in the Canadian fishing waters.

IRELAND.

HEARTLESS EVICTIONS.

NEW YORK, May 14.—A cablegram from Dublin says: The most heartrending details have just reached here of evictions on the estate of Lord Kenmore, at Headford, near Killarney, in county Kerry. While he, as lord chamberlain, is attending the queen at the Liverpool festivities, sheriffs and bailiffs, backed by ninety-seven policemen, have been turning out a large number of his tenants of the poorest kind, who are undeniably unable to pay anything. Owing to resistance they have only averaged nine evictions per day.

WILL LEAVE THE COUNTRY.

DUBLIN, May 14.—One firm of manufacturers in the province of Ulster has already concluded arrangements for the transfer of its mills to Germany. It is stated that other Ulster firms are considering the advisability of removal also.

THOMAS, Ont., May 14.—Michigan Central employes this morning tore up the crossing laid over that line at Courtwright by the Erie & Huron company on Tuesday, in consequence of the right of way not being paid for. Ties and rails are piled on adjacent farms. When the Erie & Huron construction gang arrived from Wallaceburg to cross to Mooretown and resume work they found an engine on the Michigan Central crossing and the work of construction blocked. Serious trouble is expected.

THE LABOR TROUBLES.

COAL MINERS DEMAND HIGHER WAGES.

CLEVELAND, May 14.—A convention representing all the miners in the Mahoning valley was held at Youngstown to-day. After discussing the refusal of the operators to grant an advance of ten cents per ton demanded the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That we adopt the scale of prices as adopted at the joint convention of miners and mine operators at Columbus last February.

Resolved, That we favor arbitration of the question of an advance to correspond with the scale, but should operators refuse to arbitrate, then we shall inaugurate a strike to enforce our demands.

Resolved, That a board of five miners be selected to meet a like number of operators at Youngstown, Thursday, May 20, at 11 A. M., for the purpose of arbitrating the question; and should the operators refuse or fail to meet with this board, then said board shall take steps to enforce a settlement of the question.

THE CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATION.

ST. LOUIS, May 14.—The Curtin labor investigating committee held its last session in this city to-day, and will leave for Washington to-night. Martin Irons testified that officials of the road ignored the provisions of the March agreement, and cited instances where grievances of their employes were never considered. The discharge of Hall, of the Texas Pacific, was the immediate cause of the strike. This was not, however, the sole reason, but it was the last of many grievances which had made the strike necessary. He had tried to settle the affair before the strike.

RIOTOUS STRIKE AT ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, May 14.—Workmen in the Belcher sugar refinery struck yesterday for an advance of wages. In the afternoon several new men were engaged to fill their places. To this they objected, and collecting around the refinery, attacked and beat every new man they could lay hands on. Policemen were summoned and dispersed the crowd, who retreated, muttering vengeance. A detail of officers are guarding the works to-day.

TRIAL OF ALDERMAN JAEHNE.

More Details of the Storm in Ohio—Several Houses Wrecked by an Explosion—Sensation in Milling Circles—Etc.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 14.—The weather was all that could be desired, and not a cloud obstructed the sky. An enormous crowd watched the Derby, and it was impossible to get a view of more than one-third of the track, from even the grand stand. Most of the would-be spectators stood staring blankly at a sea of hats that loomed up in front, completely obstructing any view of the track. It is estimated that 20,000 people were on the grounds. Ban Fox, who has been a favorite all spring, was scratched just before the race, his owners expecting that their other entry, Ben Ali, would be a sure winner. Silver Cloud was also scratched, and Murphy was appointed by Baldwin, his owner, to ride Lijero. Corrigan's Free Knight and Haggin's Ben Ali were hot favorites. Ben Ali won, Blue Wing second, Free Knight third.

A COMPLETE REPORT.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 14.—Derby day has come and gone and by all who saw it has been put down as a great turf event, successful in every respect. The weather was very warm, the track was good and fast, and the attendance was the largest seen at Louisville in many years in a free field. The crowd was simply immense. They were good natured, but it required great execution on the part of the police. Betting was very good. It was confined to auction and French mutual pools, bookmakers declining to pay the sum required for the privilege by White & Co., lessees.

The first race of the day was the Louisville ladies' stakes, five-eighths mile—Nellie B., 107, West; Blessed, 107, Withers; Jennie T., 107, Fuller; Plaything, 107, Kelly; Cora L., 107, Step; Lilith, 107, J. Crittenden; Varina, 107, Ellis; Midair, 107, Henderson; Ben Nail, 107, Conkling; Wary, 107, Stovat; Violette, 107, [illegible] Harris; Valuable, 107, Tankersly. Non starter, Katie A. Betting: Corrigan's entry, Jennie T. and Plaything, $75; Wary, $35; Harper's entry, Midair and Valuable, $25; field, $70. At the start, which was excellent, Wary and Jennie T. were first to show in front, Jennie T. soon taking the lead followed by Wary, and was not headed, Jennie T. winning easily by one length, Wary second, Ben Nail a very close third; time, 1:01¼.

Second race, one and one-fourth mile—Susie Forbes, 97, J. Johnson; Red Girl, 97, O'Brien; Aretino, 122, Withers; Hattie Carlisle, 97, Fuller; Modesty, 119, Fitzpatrick. Betting: Modesty, $75; Aretino, $15; Hattie Carlisle, $10; field, $8. Red Girl took a lead of three lengths, Susie Forbes second two lengths in front of Modesty, third. On the back stretch Modesty went to the front, Aretino second, Hattie Carlisle third. On the stretch Hattie Carlisle took second place. Modesty was not headed, and won easily and by half a length, Hattie Carlisle second, Aretino third, three lengths off; time, 2:11¼.

THE KENTUCKY DERBY.

Third race, the Kentucky Derby, one and a half miles—Free Knight, Fitzpatrick; Masterpiece, West; Blue Wing, Garrison; Lijero, Murphy; Ben Ali, Duffy; Jim Grey, Withers; Sir Joseph, Conkling; Grimaldi, Lewis; Lafitte, Stoval; Harrodsburg, J. Riley—118 each. Non-starters: Ban Fox and Silver Cloud. Betting: Ben Ali $500, Free Knight $375, Blue Wing $275, Jim Gray $125, Masterpiece $75, field $150.

There was an excellent start, without any delay, Blue Wing, Grimaldi and Masterpiece, as named, showing in front. In a short distance Masterpiece went to the front, soon having a lead of three lengths, Harrodsburg second, half a length ahead of Grimaldi third. Grimaldi dropped back at the stand, and Jim Gray moved up even with him. On the back stretch Jim Gray showed a trifle in front at the half pole, Harrodsburg, Masterpiece and Free Knight in a close bunch. As they rounded into the stretch Free Knight was in front, but the four were very close together. In a short time Ben Ali and Blue Wing had the race to themselves. They had a very hard and driving finish. Both horses were very tired, Ben Ali winning by a short three-quarters of a length, Blue Wing second, Free Knight third; time, 2:36½.

THE LAST RACE.

Fourth race, heats of one mile—Kershaw, 97, O'Brien; Big Three, 32, J. Johnson; Irish Pat, 113, Fitzpatrick; Adrian, 101, W. Jones; Falls City, 97, McCarthy.

First heat—Betting: Irish Pat $150, Adrian $38, Big Three $25, field $14. Adrian led, followed by Falls City and Big Three. There was no change all the way into the stretch, where Irish Pat joined Adrian. It was a hard and close race to the end, Adrian winning by one length, Irish Pat second, Big Three third, Falls City fourth, Kershaw fifth; time, 1:44¼. Mutuals paid the field $16 10.

Second heat—Betting: Irish Pat $175, Adrian $100, field $5. Irish Pat and Adrian ran close together as named for three-quarters of a mile. Irish Pat then drew clear and won handily by one length, Adrian second, Big Three a bad third, Falls City and Kershaw distanced; time, 1:44¾. Mutuals paid $14.

Third heat—Betting: Irish Pat $100, Adrian $22. They ran together into the stretch, where Adrian drew away and won easily by four lengths, Irish Pat second; time, 1:47. Mutuals paid $19 50.

BRIGHTON BEACH RACES.

BRIGHTON BEACH, May 14.—All betting was stopped to-day by the police authorities.

First race, five furlongs—Commander won by four lengths, Frolic second, Little Minch third; time 1:06.

Second race, three-fourths mile—General Price won by half a length, Crafty second, Blue Bell third; time 1:20.

Third race, one mile—George Singerly won by a half length, Irish Pat second, Lord Beaconsfield third; time 1:49½.

Fourth race, three-fourths mile—Keokuk won by a head; Peekskill and Frolic ran a dead heat for second place; time, 1:20¾.

THE STORMS.

MORE DETAILS FROM CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, May 14.—News of damage by the storm Wednesday night continues to come. Madison county, Ohio, suffered to an extent of more than $200,000. The streams in that county are generally low banked, and the unprecedented flood caused nearly all road bridges to be carried off. In fact, the waterspout was so pronounced that a flood eight feet high came tearing down Paint creek yesterday afternoon into Washington courthouse and increased until, in four hours, it had risen eighteen feet, the highest ever known. All the lower part of the city was inundated and many people were driven from their homes. Dozens of bridges were washed away.

In Clinton county the chief damage done was by wind.

In Butler county also there was much damage by wind. Fifty feet of the Woodsdale bridge over the Miami river was blown off and a fine iron and wood bridge on Elliott turnpike was demolished. Miles of trees were flattened and many small bridges were torn up.

In the village of Sevenmile the streets are impassable from fallen trees. The public school building is badly damaged. The roof of the Methodist church was lifted and hurled against the parsonage, crushing in its walls, the minister's family narrowly escaping death.

The river at Milton is a mile wide and full of wrecks of houses and barns. The mills are all stopped, and nearly all access to the town is cut off.

At Sidney great damage to the railroad is reported. Between Sidney and Quincy several culverts are washed out.

SEVERAL PEOPLE KILLED AND INJURED.

ALBANY, O., May 14.—The tornado passed through Columbia township, five miles from this place, Wednesday night, carrying death and destruction with it. Mrs. Margaret A. McComas, aged 60, and her nephew were instantly killed. The house in which Mrs. McComas was killed was entirely demolished. Mark McKnight's house was entirely demolished and himself and wife badly hurt. The Kentucky & Ohio railroad depot had its warehouse entirely destroyed. The storm was in the tornado style and by far the worst ever known in this part of Ohio. It was one fourth to one-half a mile wide.

STORM AT ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, May 14.—About 6 o'clock to-night the heaviest rain and wind storm that has occurred here for a number of years passed over the city and swept on to the eastward. The rain was almost a deluge. All depressions in the city were flooded, and cellars and basements were partially filled, doing great damage.

GREAT DAMAGE FROM FLOOD.

LONDON, May 14.—Floods are general throughout the kingdom. Heavy damage is reported. Many factories are flooded, necessitating the stoppage of work.

TRIAL OF ALDERMAN JAEHNE.

Damaging Testimony against him and his Associates in the Steal.

NEW YORK, May 14.—The taking of evidence in the trial of Alderman Henry W. Jaehne, charged with having accepted a bribe of $20,000 to vote in favor of granting the franchise to the Broadway surface railroad company, for the running of cars on Broadway from the Battery to Fourteenth street, was begun to-day.

J. F. Twomey, clerk of the board of aldermen, testified that Alderman Jaehne voted to grant the franchise.

Alderman Charles B. Waite, who presided at the memorable meeting, and who recently made a voluntary statement concerning the granting of the franchise to the authorities, and has since been kept a prisoner in the house of an assistant district attorney, said he was interested in the Broadway franchise, and did what he could to push it, on account of his friendship for James A. Richmond, its president.

James Lyddy, who on August 25 procured an injunction forbidding the aldermen to proceed further in the Broadway matter, testified that he brought suit against the Broadway surface road for his brother, John H. Lyddy, and on August 29 he gave consent to the discontinuance of it. There was no money paid to him for the release, but there was $12,500 to his brother, John H. Lyddy.

INSPECTOR BYRNES'S STORY.

Police Inspector Byrnes, who played upon Jaehne's confidence and got him to make the damaging admission which led to his arrest, was sworn, and told a story of how he worked himself into Jaehne's confidence. In Washington, at the time of President Cleveland's inauguration, Jaehne told him that Billy Maloney, reading clerk of the board, had made $100,000 to $150,000 because he had handled all the money, and was not a man to do it for nothing." In 1885 witness had a series of talks with Jaehne, up to the time of his arrest. In the latter part of October, 1885, they talked about the Broadway railroad, and witness told defendant that "if they (the aldermen) were not very careful they would all be sent to prison through Maloney, who was going around talking about the money he had given them for their votes.

Witness had another conversation with defendant at the city hall a couple of days before the aldermen testified before the senate committee. Jaehne said they were in a dreadfully bad state. Witness replied that he had told them (the aldermen) they would get into trouble through his evidence, but any way he could serve he would be glad to do so. Jaehne asked him to find out what District Attorney Martine was doing, and whether there was going to be any indictment. Witness told him that Waite, Tulgraffe and Miller had been promised immunity. Jaehne visited him at his house by appointment that evening, and in further conversation said that the aldermen named knew he did business with Maloney. He belonged to the original combination of thirteen aldermen, formed in the early part of 1884, which met once at Tulgraffe's office, but afterwards at McLaughlin's house when railroad matters were talked over. At one meeting there it was stated that each of the twenty-two aldermen who were to vote for the Broadway franchise would receive $20,000 for his vote. It was to be paid in cash on the day it was finally passed. He told Maloney that he needed some money, and the latter answered that he would find it in his box. He did find therein an envelope containing one $10,000 bill and ten $1,000 bills. The aldermen, he said, got their money in different ways, some at the city hall, others in bar rooms and all round.

A GOOD IDEA.

Witness suggested that if Jaehne could get some facts implicating Waite, Tulgraffe and Miller, he could go to the grand jury and have them indicted, and thus head them off. Jaehne thought that a good idea, and said he could do it if he could make connection with Maloney.

When asked whether Maloney had left money he was to distribute in his (Jaehne's) safe one night, the latter admitted it, saying Maloney came to his store under the influence of liquor, and he took charge of the money for him.

The following Wednesday witness made arrangements to have Jaehne come to his office. Jaehne came, and Byrnes arranged matters so as to have the conversation carried on within hearing of two of his detectives, secreted in an adjoining room. Jaehne began by denying the rumor that he intended to run away, but admitted that he had spoken of doing so to a man named Horney. He said he had been unable to make connection with Maloney. Witness then asked him if he was sure that each of those who voted for the Broadway franchise got $20,000, and he answered that they had. Jaehne in a short time looked at his watch and said he had an engagement up town next day, and witness arrested him.

The inspector was cross-examined at length, the general purport of the questions being to throw discredit on him as an officer.

Detective Cosgrove, one of the men who overheard Jaehne's admission, corroborated the inspector's account of that interview.

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS.

SEVERAL HOUSES WRECKED.

PITTSBURG, Penn., May 14.—An agent of the Atlantic Dynamite company was employed this morning to break up a lot of iron stored on vacant ground near the Republic iron works, on Sidney street. He commenced work on a ten-ton anvil, and used an immense charge of dynamite for the purpose. A terrific explosion followed, and huge pieces of the anvil were scattered in every direction. One piece, weighing 300 pounds, wrecked a house occupied by Mrs. McNamara, one block distant. Another piece, over 200 pounds, crashed through the dwelling of Emil Erstman, also a block away. It struck a bed in which their children were sleeping; they were covered with debris, but escaped serious injury. Another house, occupied by Mrs. Lung, fully 300 feet away, is also wrecked. The only person injured was James Acton, who was walking on a sidewalk one block away. He was struck on the leg by a fragment, and the limb was so badly injured that amputation was necessary. The agent was arrested for violating a city ordinance.

SENSATION IN MILLING CIRCLES.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 14.—A sensation in milling circles was created this morning by the announcement that wheat reported in store in this city according to the chamber of commerce is some million and a half bushels short of the actual amount contained in the elevators. The amount in store on May 10 was, according to the chamber, 4,500,000 bushels, adding to which 1,500,000 bushels of whose existence the Miller claims to have indisputable proof, gives the total amount in the elevators now nearly 7,000,000 bushels. St. Paul has 900,000 bushels on hand, and Duluth over 7,000,000 bushels in store and afloat. The news has caused a deluge of telegrams from foreign firms, the price of wheat being intimately connected with the visible supply. No explanation of this singular discrepancy is offered.

SUNK BY A COLLISION.

BOSTON, May 14.—A dispatch received to-day from Batavia, East Indies, says that the ship Ice King, Bartlett, from the Philippine islands, for Boston, was sunk by colliding with an unknown steamer, May 7, off Point Lloyds. The Ice King was a good ship, of 1198 tons burden. She had a cargo of about 1500 tons sugar. The ship was valued at $30,000, and her cargo at about $90,000. Her officers and crew are reported saved.

ARREST OF THE MAN WHO THREW THE BOMB AT CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, May 14.—A man named Louis Lingg was arrested this evening, while in hiding at No. 80 Ambrose street. The police unreservedly declare that he is the man who threw the death dealing bomb into their ranks a week ago Tuesday. Before that date Lingg lived in Claybourn avenue, but up to this evening had not been seen since the massacre. His capture was made on information furnished by one of the Arbeiter Zeitung employes. The police say there is no shadow of doubt of the man's guilt, and events of to-night throw some credibility on the statement. It is thought the arrest is one of the most important made, with the exception of the capture of the instigators of the horrible crime. Lingg is said to have been an employe of Spies, and has been since May 4th a missing man. At the police station he was put through a rigorous examination, lasting three hours at least. Lingg made a statement, the extent of which the police refuse to disclose. Detectives in large numbers were hurriedly dispatched to Claybourn avenue for persons implicated by his confession. It is understood that the police made no promises to Lingg, but gained their information by other means—just what they refuse to say.

SUCCESS IN WAR.

The publication of the second volume of Grant's Memoirs suggests some thoughts concerning his remarkable success as a soldier, despite the fact that, save as a mathematician, he was not a superior scholar at the military school. The fact is that superior military scholarship is no more an assurance of success in the application of the art of war to the sudden emergencies of the campaign and the battlefield than superior scholarship at a law school is an assurance of success in the trial of a great case in court; or that great scholarship at a theological seminary is assurance of future power in the pulpit. Brains is behind and at the bottom of success; nay more, a man may have memory, and a fine critical faculty, decided brains, and yet fail because he cannot do what Turner said was the explanation of a great artist—he cannot mix his colors with brains; he may be great in the closet; in the class-room; in the lecture field; in the passive world of mere criticism and contemplation, and yet be feeble, sluggish, hesitating in action. There were great generals before there were any military schools or books on tactics or strategy; and if mere military scholarship was essential to a great general, why then Jomini ought to have been a greater soldier than Napoleon; Napier and Wolseley than Wellington; Hardee than Stonewall Jackson; Lesley than Cromwell.

During the war it was the exception where the first scholars at West Point proved more than mediocre generals. The able, aggressive commanders, like Longstreet, Jackson, Hill, Ewell, Lyon, Stuart, Grant, Hancock, Sheridan, Schofield, Slocum, Thomas, Sedgwick, Gibbon, Custer, Reno, Merritt, Ord, Stanley, Barlow, Miles, Forrest, Crook, Mower, Upton, Carroll, Russell, Grover, whether educated at West Point or in the schools of civic life, were not distinguished as scholars; yet in the talent for the handling of troops in the field with energy and skill they were the superiors of the so-called "engineer" generals. McClellan, Parke, Newton, Weitzel, Franklin, Beauregard, Rosecrans, Foster, Pope, Stone, Gillmore, Halleck, William F. Smith were fine military students, but they failed of brilliant success because they lacked the pugnacious energy necessary to victory. McClellan at Gaines Hill and Antietam; Franklin at Fredericksburg; Beauregard at Shiloh; Rosecrans's fatal delay from February, 1863, to July, 1863; Halleck before Corinth, and William F. Smith before Petersburg are cases in point. Meade was of the same type; his single victory before Gettysburg was a defensive battle full of gross blunders, and his subsequent career stamped him as deficient in energy and enterprise. Even Warren, not lacking energy and of daring courage, generally hesitated and criticised his orders until the opportunity was lost. Wright lost Cedar Creek by surprise, and Sheridan had to wrest victory from the pit of defeat. Even McPherson, when left to his own judgment, showed a fatal lack of enterprise, as at Resaca, when he halted his flanking column in the moment of success. Lee, Johnston, Sherman and Humphreys are the only exceptions that we remember to the rule of experience during the civil war that the first scholars at West Point showed the smallest aptitude for generalship in the field.

Well; what does this prove? That fine military scholarship is hurtful to a general? No; it only proves that out-door executive energy and pugnacity of temperament are essential to a general, as well as a knowledge of the scientific principles of strategy and grand tactics. The scholarly temperament is industrious, but is usually too contemplative, cautious and reflective when it needs to be aggressive and audacious in action. It reflects so much that it becomes self-distrustful and hesitates when it should strike both swiftly and sharply. Sherman once said: "I know more than Grant; I am a smarter man in military science than he is, but where he beats me and where he beats us all is that when he has decided when and how to attack the enemy and he can sleep on his plan without caring a button to consider what the enemy might do, while I can not form a plan, no matter how plausible for success, without being awake all night fretting and fearing what the enemy might do." This was really a confession that Grant was the best general for the battle-field, because he trusted to his power to meet emergencies as they arose and did not make his resolution sickly with the pale cast of too much thought over the phantoms of his fancy. If troubles came, not "in single spies but in battalions," he trusted to his "2-o'clock-in-the-morning courage" and nerve to meet them; but he never relaxed his grip on his own original purpose until the enemy forced him to break it and take a fresh hold.

It is in war as it is in business, in politics and the professions. Success is not assured by great knowledge of books alone, or even by pure intellectual power; there is a native temperamental quality necessary, which includes sound judgment, push, enterprise and prompt decision at the golden moment, the absence of which no knowledge of books and no mere power of pure thought will supply. A man might as well expect to become an orator by the mere study of a treatise on eloquence, as to become a great soldier, lawyer, merchant, preacher or physician by severe study and the possession of high scholarly attainments. The native quality which compels success by the sound and prompt application of knowledge to every day affairs must be present, or the man of books, even when of superior intellectual power and acuteness, will fail of success, not because he does not see opportunities, but either because he does not seize them at all, or lacks the judgment that tells a man without teaching when and where to seize them and how to handle himself in action.

Whether a political campaign carried on upon the assumption that "the masses" don't want to vote for a man who changes his shirt sometimes is destined to success or not may not be fairly tested this year; but this campaign is moving that way. Nevertheless it is pitiful when a candidate for the respectable office of governor of Oregon goes a-demagoging for votes on the plea that he "never wore a shirt washed by a Chinaman." The next step would be to seek votes on the still more meritorious plea or boast that he wears a shirt seldom or never washed by anybody. This kind of thing, besides being dignified and statesmanlike, is a wonderful compliment to "the masses."

NEW YORK PROHIBITIONISTS.

It was the prohibition vote of New York that defeated Blaine for the presidency, or at least among many causes of his defeat, this was by far the most potent. The present outlook in that state is not favorable to the return of the prohibitionists to the republican party. The republicans promised in their state platform to submit to the people a prohibition amendment. But this promise has not been kept. In the assembly branch of the legislature a few days ago the resolution to submit such amendment was defeated,—eighteen republicans voting with the democrats in the negative. The prohibitionists, enraged by this action, declare that they will humble the republican party by further defeats, and very probably they will keep their word. Their vote in New York is steadily growing. In 1880 it was but 1,517. In 1884 it 25,016, and in 1885 it was 30,867. Their journals are now saying that they will be "humbugged and insulted" no longer, that their organization will be pushed for all it is worth, and that there shall be no further parley with those who have not kept their promises. This is going to be a serious matter for the republican party of New York, and in a wider sense, for the republican party of the United States. New York's great weight in national politics renders this fight on the liquor question in that state a matter of national interest. Already one presidential election has been determined by it, and very likely another, and still another may be. Similar purpose on the part of the prohibitionists of Oregon is manifesting itself. In many parts of the state they are active and energetic; in most of the counties they have nominated full local tickets, and their state ticket pretty certainly will get a strong aggregate vote, a vote which is likely to be swelled largely in many places by disgust with the corruption and despotism of "regular" or ring organization.

OFFICIAL HONOR.

Attorney-General Garland's moral vision is purblind compared with that of Salmon P. Chase. In 1863 a gentleman in Philadelphia wrote Secretary Chase that he had purchased 800 shares of Philadelphia & Erie stock for him, and some two weeks afterward again wrote the secretary, who had not paid for the stock, that he had sold the stock at an advance, and enclosed him a check for $4200 as the profit on the transaction. Secretary Chase at once returned the check, stating his reasons as follows:

"I am much obliged to you for your willingness to regard the money paid for the stock as a temporary loan from you to me. But I cannot accept the favor. When congress at the last session saw fit to clothe me with very large powers over currency and financial movements, I determined to avoid every act which could give occasion to any suspicion that I would use the powers conferred on me to affect markets unnecessarily, or at all, with reference to the private advantage of anybody. To carry out this determination faithfully, I must decline to receive any advantage from purchases or sales made with a view to profits expected from the rise or fall of market prices. For these reasons I must decline to receive the check. For, in order to be able to render the most efficient service to our country, it is essential for me to be right as well as to seem right, and to seem right as well as to be right."

If Colfax, Patterson, Brooks, Blaine, Garfield and Garland had erected the same high standard of official trust set up by Mr. Chase when he resolved to be "right as well as to seem right; to seem right as well as to be right," there would be nothing to-day in their public record to excuse, or to make their judicious friends grieve. Mr. Chase had a clear moral vision where a public trust was concerned, while Garland is troubled with both moral myopia and moral strabismus.

Both parties play with the tariff for politics only, and neither party ever dares to enact the extremity of its creed. In 1840 a protection cry carried the country; in 1842 the tariff was revised on a protection basis; in 1844 the democrats attacked the tariff and ended in shouting "Polk, Dallas and the Tariff of 1842," and in 18[illegible], having carried the election of 1844, a democratic congress, with the assistance of Dallas, enacted the free trade tariff of 1846. In 1880 a protection cry carried the country, and the revision of 1882 was a protection revision.

The Worcester Spy says: "The chief difference between the situation of working people in the East and those of California is that the latter have the Chinese as co-laborers or competitors. Is it in consequence of the presence of the Chinese that the clerks, mechanics and laborers are able to live in better style than people of like occupations in the Atlantic states, so that they can afford to buy more carpets than twice their number in any other state of the union? They are not yet ruined by Chinese cheap labor, it seems."

Senator Beck recently demanded in the United States senate that the capitalists of New England should be compelled to divide their enormous profits with the down-trodden and oppressed laboring population of those states. Senator Hawley in reply said: "These down-trodden and penniless people ground into the dirt have $92,000,000 in the savings banks, put in by 220,000 people," more than one-third the population of the state, and this sum is more than twice the total investment of Kentucky in manufactures.

Senator Dolph has proposed sundry amendments to the river and harbor bill, increasing the amounts allotted for rivers and harbors in Oregon and Washington territory. Which moves the New York Sun to this remark: "Mr. Dolph's amendment will raise the question as to whether the Forty-ninth congress is prepared to devote millions to aid river and harbor improvement and then leave our coasts absolutely at the world's mercy."

Two leading "issues" have been developed in the campaign so far, to-wit: First, interest in Jeff Davis's speeches; second, inquiry whether Col. Cornelius ever had a shirt washed by a Chinaman or not. A prohibitionist, writing to THE OREGONIAN, says there is "an absolute dearth of living issues between the two old parties." We commend him to the above and ask him to reverse his opinion.

The New York Graphic thinks that a corporation that "waters its stock seven times over and pays quarterly or monthly dividends on the water and earns the dividend by paying the workmen wages which mean very little this side of starvation, is clearly amenable to the legislative enforcement of fair play."

The late Lord Houghton said of humor: "The sense of humor is the just balance of all the faculties of man, the best security against the pride of knowledge and the conceits of the imagination, the strongest inducement to submit with a wise and pious patience to the vicissitudes of human existence."

It is a notorious fact that the republican party of Oregon is "run" in the interest of a most selfish, tyrannical and despotic ring. Should this ring be smashed in the coming election, there would be many who would not mourn.

Each party "points with pride" to its own "record" and "arraigns" that of its adversary. The electors are expected to range themselves with great enthusiasm on the respective sides of this great proposition.

Satisfactory Evidence.

J. W. Graham, Wholesale Druggist, of Austin, Tex., writes:—I have been handling DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS for the past year, and have found it one of the most salable medicines I have ever had in my house for Coughs, Colds, and even Consumption, always giving entire satisfaction. Please send me another gross.

MARITIME COMMERCE.

No wonder that congress frets over the fact that our great nation, with its vast extent of sea coast, has lost its former grip on the maritime commerce of the world. One-half of the world's tonnage engaged in carrying the world's commerce on the high seas sails under the flag of Great Britain. England's tonnage on the ocean highways is between four and five times our own. It is seven times that of Norway, eight times that of Germany, ten times that of France, eleven times that of Italy and eighteen times that of Russia. England's steam tonnage is almost ten times as great as that of her nearest rival, France. It is ten times our steam tonnage and forty times that of Russia. The British flag covers nearly two-thirds of all the ocean steamers afloat. In 1860, before the civil war, exactly two-thirds of the foreign trade of the United States was carried on American vessels. Last year five-sixths of our foreign trade was carried on foreign vessels. British vessels carried about half of our foreign freights and American vessels one-sixth, while the remaining third was divided between Norway, Germany, Italy, Spain and France, in the order named. Nearly three-quarters of England's carrying trade on the ocean is done in English ships. She has trebled her merchant fleet since 1850, and has done this largely at the expense of American shipping. This enormous advantage Great Britain has gained over the United States in a rivalry wherein the two nations once contended on nearly equal terms. The decrease of American shipping, during the twenty years that have witnessed such amazing progress in the development of our other industries, dates from the period of the civil war. Our bitter difficulty was England's brilliant opportunity, and she has made the most of it.

THE PORTLAND SUBSIDY BILL.

ALBANY, Or., May 14.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In your issue of the 13th inst. your correspondent "G" calls attention to the fact that Judge Stra[illegible] voted for the $300,000 subsidy as well as Cornelius. It is true that such men as Brown of Marion, Burch, Strahan, Patterson, Powell and others voted for this bill. In 1870, but Gov. Grover vetoed the bill, and when this veto message was up for consideration in 1872, all of these gentlemen conceded the force of the governor's constitutional objections to the bill, and voted against passing it over the veto of the governor, but Mr. Cornelius voted solitary and alone for the bill, notwithstanding the arguments of the governor had convinced all the other members. It would seem that Mr. Cornelius was too dull to be reached by argument, or too much imbued with self-interest to be convinced.

FAIRPLAY.

CATLIN FOR COUNTY JUDGE.

May 15, 1886.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

While it is admitted on all sides by the majority of the people of this county that a free bridge should be built by the county and kept in repair at the expense of the county, such a bridge as would not obstruct navigation, but would be of incalculable value to both cities and surrounding country; and while the people do all say that the noblest work of God is an honest man, a man of strict integrity, a man who cannot either be bought or sold, and who cannot be influenced to do anything against the best interests of the people, and who cannot be tampered with, the citizens of Multnomah county will see to it, on election day, that in the interest of the county at large, the greatest good will be done to the greatest number by the election of John Catlin for county judge.

THE PORTLAND SUBSIDY BILL

ALBANY Or May 11

To the Editor of the Oregonian

In your issue of the 13th inst your correspondent "G" calls attention to the fact that Judge Strahan voted for the $300,000 subsidy as well as Cornelius. It is true that such men as Brown of Marion, Buck Strahan, Patterson Powell and others voted for this bill in 18 0, but Gov Grover vetoed the bill, and when this veto message was up for consideration in 18?? all of these gentlemen con[illegible] the force of the governor's constitutional objections to the bill and voted against passing it over the veto of the governor but Mr Cornelius voted solitary and alone for the bill notwithstanding the arguments of the governor had convinced the other members It would seem that Mr Cornelius was too dull to be reached by argument or too much imbued with self interest to be convinced.

FAIRPLAY

CATLIN FOR COUNTY JUDGE

May 15 1886

To the Editor of the Oregonian

While it is admitted on all sides by the majority of the people of this county that a free bridge should be built by the county and kept in repair at the expense of the county such a bridge as would not obstruct navigation but would be of incalculable value to both cities and surrounding country and while the people do all say that the noblest work of God is an honest man a man of strict integrity, a man who cannot either be bought or sold and who cannot be influenced to do anything against the best interests of the people and who cannot be tampered with, the citizens of Multnomah county will see to it on election day that in the interest of the county at large, the greatest good will be done to the greatest number by the election of John Catlin for county judge

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

A TROUBLESOME MILLDAM — Yesterday Edward P. Wright and wife brought suit in the state circuit court against G & D Shindler For cause plaintiffs allege that they are the owners of five acres of land in the Jacob Wills donation land claim, sec 24, T 1 S, R 1 E, that Shindler & Co are partners in a mill with a dam across a creek which runs through the plaintiff's land that in 1878 there was an action at law pending in the state circuit court for damages between E. P Wright and Seth Lewelling and Thomas Baird and plaintiff got judgment, the jury find ng that the dam was ten feet high and an injury to plaintiff's property That Baird and Lewelling afterwards sold their mill dam to Shindler, and in March, 1883, it was washed away and a new one erected fourteen inches higher than the old dam was at the time of said judgment, and the new dam has caused the water to back on the plaintiff's land higher than the old dam did and thereby impeded and checked the natural flow of the water of said creek and raised it and backed it up on plaintiff's land and made the same too wet to cultivate vegetables to the damage of the plaintiff in the extent of $100 wherefore plaintiff prays for a perpetual injunction to prevent the defendants from backing the water on his land, or from raising it any higher in the bed of the creek than the old dam did at the time of said judgment, and an account be taken of the damage to his land

SECURED THE CERTIFICATE.—In the U S circuit court yesterday, in the case of Ine Kim and others against Henry Weiner the plaintiffs' motion to be given the certificate of deposit in dispute, on depositing $ 000 in the registry of the court was argued and allowed The plaintiff was allowed twenty days to take testimony and defendant was granted the same time The plaintiffs were also granted a further extension of five days to take testimony in rebuttal. The certificate mentioned was for $400 deposited in Ladd & Tilton's bank by the joss house association, and which was passed to Henry Weiner by Ah Wong the dishonest and rascally secretary of the association as Weiner alleges, in security for a loan of $300 or thereabouts After tedious litigation the joss house association has secured possession of the certificate The rascal Ah Wong left the country some time since and his colleague, Weiner also left, and is supposed to be somewhere East. This decision will have little cause to mourn if neither of them return

PICNIC WHICH PROMISES SOME FUN.—The Ladies Aid society of Calvary church will give a picnic to Oak island, a beautiful spot in Sturgeon lake, on Sauvie's island, on June 5. The steamer Lurline has been engaged for the occasion The lake abounds in sturgeon of all sizes and every one who joins the excursion will be expected to take along fishing tackle of some kind it is nothing but a piece of darning cotton and a pin hook to catch fish for the picnic dinner at which sturgeon will be served in every style It is expected that a number of trained sturgeon will participate in the picnic. Two picked nines of these intelligent fish will play a baseball match for the championship of the lake others will run wheelbarrow races and climb a greased pole for a sack of doughnuts and the company will have a chance to catch a greased sturgeon.

FIRST GAME OF POLO —At last the game of polo is to be inaugurated here A number of horsemen will play the first game ever seen on the northwest coast between 4 and 5 P M to-day on the meadow a few rods east of the Jefferson street ferry landing on the east side The grass has been cut and the ground cleared so as to let the players down easy when they fall off their horses Ten young men have entered for the match and any one who has a nag which he thinks is a good polo pony can join in the sport. The bucking cayuse should make the very best kind of a polo pony and as they are plenty and cheap there is no reason why polo should not become as popular here as it is at the East. Young man sell your bicycle and buy a dozen cayuses with the money and go in for polo

INTENSIVE IMPROVEMENT —S. G Reed will at once commence the construction of a brick building on his property running through from Second to Third in the block between Washington and Stark streets He owns a strip 100 feet wide The building fronting on Second street will be three stories in height and the Third street front four stories The buildings now on the lots will be sold on Monday to be removed at once, and excavation for the foundation will be commenced forthwith The completion of this block and the building now under progress at the northwest corner of the block will leave only one wooden building on the block, the U C & B T Co's office It is likely that this will be replaced by a brick building in the near future

MARTIN KALLICH DROWNED —Further particulars were received yesterday in regard to the accident at Bonneville, from which it appears that there is no doubt but that Martin Kallich was drowned The fishwheel it seems broke loose from its moorings and started down the river As soon as Kallich saw that it was adrift he ran to the side and sprang for the rocks As nothing has been seen of him since he was undoubtedly drowned His comrades Willis and Hasting staid on the scow and were saved Peter Kallich returned from Bonneville last night It is not known how the scow got adrift The mate of the Lurline says it was moored with a hawser amply sufficient to hold it

HEAVY WATER BILL —At the school meeting last night a bill was presented for water furnished during the month of April, amounting to $31 Of this 370 000 gallons was used in the High school Thompson remarked Between gas and water this institution is going bankrupt. ASTRONOMICAL OBSERVATIONS —Prof David[illegible] in charge of the coast and geodetic survey arrived here on Tuesday last, and, assisted by Capt Lockwell will do some astronomical work for latitude and azimuth as soon as the clouds roll by and they can get a squint at the stars An observatory will be established at the Balch station on the old Balch claim The object of the observations is to establish a sort of base line as it were by which all the coast survey work can be tested and from which the correct direction of all lines can be taken Of course everybody understands all about the azimuth, so any explanation is uncalled for here

SUNDRY INQUIRIES

POWELL'S VALLEY May 11

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

The people living in the 'garden patch' on this side the river are very anxious to have a bridge across the Willamette river giving them direct and easy access to our market at Portland and until a bridge is built they are vitally interested in reasonable rates for ferriage

It is generally understood here that the republican candidate for county judge owes his nomination to the friendly interest taken therein by Mr James Lotan, who with his partners, is said to own a controlling interest in the Stark street ferry This naturally awakens suspicion that if Mr Dement should be elected, he would use his influence not only to hinder the construction of a free bridge across the Willamette but also to prevent the reduction of ferry rates on the Port and ferries

It needs no argument to show that as traffic and travel increase rates which might have been reasonable in early times are too high and should be correspondingly reduced Of course the owners of a ferry which takes toll from this entire portion of the county to such an extent that it has not inaptly been named the Stark street mint, will oppose any reduction of the charges revenues but all the same the people are not interested in giving them the absolute control of our county court

We do not desire to do Mr Dement any injustice and to that end do not wish to accept the rumors referred to without having first heard from him

May we not hope that he will avail himself of an early opportunity to set these reports at rest by doing so through your columns the exact relation between himself and those who are at once the owners of a ferry which is hostile to bridges and cheap fares and the reputed ticket makers of the republican party?

To the Public —The local article in THE OREGONIAN of the [illegible] inst relative to Miss Godfrey the prima donna of the Thompson opera company misleading in regard to that lady's engagement with the Casino opera house company for the Sound and Victoria circuit, and her subsequent refusal to accompany the troupe as previously arranged Miss Godfrey's objections were solely on account of personal difficulties with Mr MacJohn the stage manager and acting manager of the Thompson opera company, and she declined to go on the circuit under the management of Mr MacCollin unless upon other terms than made with the Casino management When fully advised of the situation and assured that her business arrangements should be solely with the Casino management she at once consented to carry out the dates as agreed upon The article above alluded to led to a request from Miss Godfrey that the Casino management would give a published statement of the matter in relief to her from the unfavorable inference created by the article mentioned The Casino management willingly accede to the request and have pleasure in stating that their business relations with Miss Godfrey have been entirely satisfactory, and further that they have always found her to be ready and willing to fulfill her engagements and to cheerfully perform extra service for the benefit of the management and others connected with the company

FISHING CONTESTS IN EARNEST.

The Strike Among the Fishermen on the Columbia Ended by the Cannerymen Conceding Everything Asked

The strike among the fishermen on the Columbia is over as will be seen by the following from the Astorian:

"The deadlock existing on the lower Columbia is reported at an end and the fishing season may be said to have begun Several meetings and consultations have taken place during the past three weeks, but, till this week, with no definite results An understanding has finally been reached and by to-morrow it is believed that every cannery on the river with possibly two or three exceptions will have begun active operations.

Contracts have been drawn up and signed individually by canners and members of the executive committee of the Columbia River Fishermen's Protective union The contracts in general are said to read about as follows

We agree to pay all men engaged by us as follows for all salmon delivered on our cannery dock of [illegible] size and quality, ¼ of 6? cents for cannery gear and 75 cents each for outside gear during the season of 1886 providing that prices do not rule lower in such case we to have fish at such reduction as may be made We reserve the right to close our cannery at any time on or before the 1st of August 1886 and cancel this agreement We further agree to employ union men when possible

The following clause is omitted in some of the contracts signed yesterday

"We further agree that we will operate at least 80 per cent of our boats while we are canning

It is further agreed that we have the right to limit the catch of all salmon to suit the capacity of packer

It is believed that the number of boats that will go out will be little if any less than that of previous years some estimate placing the number of boats as high as 1400 As the contracts call for salmon delivered at the cannery it will involve an average expense to station owners of about 3 cents per fish to have such delivery made

During the settlement of the matter there has not been one authentically reported overt act of anything at all resembling violence everything being conducted in a quiet and orderly manner It is now thought that activity will be the order of the day and that renewed effort will be made to make up for previous loss.

There has been a great lack of reliable information in regard to the trouble between the fishermen and the cannerymen but there have been plenty of opinions expressed some favorable to one side some to the other It appears that there are about thirty two cannerymen on the river and that they can never all agree to any course to be pursued in regard to the fishing Altogether there are about 1800 boats owned by the cannerymen, and to man these requires 3600 men The men it appears, can agree on the price they want for fish and can stick together till they get it It is said that just as many fish could be caught with 900 boats as with the 1800 and if only that number of boats were used the fishermen could make good wages at a less price for fish But as each canneryman wants to put as many boats and nets in the water as possible the take per boat and consequently the earnings of the fishermen are greatly reduced. As each boat and net costs $500, the cannerymen would save a great deal if they could agree to reduce the number and besides there would be no need then for importing so many fishermen from the Sacramento every season The concessions made to the fishermen by the canners seem in most cases to have a string to them and it is hardly possible that the season will come to an end without somebody being dissatisfied

PROHIBITION FUN.

SALEM May 11

To the Editor of The Oregonian.

Some people in this quiet city of peace haven't done laughing yet—at intervals—and they began late last Wednesday night. ' Cos why? Well, here's the story in a nutshell. Would-be-Governor Pennoyer and I'd like-to-be-Congressman Butler had it announced that they requested opposing candidates to take part with them in the canvass they were about to make The wide-awake and gritty Prof. G M Miller whom the prohibitionists are determined to send to congress if hard work and hard sense arguments will do it, turned up smiling on the platform of the opera house and said to them, Here we are gentlemen, much obliged for your invitation to join you in the canvass.' There was no honorable way but to reply 'If you will pay part of the expenses you shall have part of the time 'Agreed" said the prohibition club Mr Pennoyer made his speech at ordinary length, and Mr Butler was called on. He said he must be brief, because Mr Miller was to follow him, but may "yours truly be spared from hearing one of his "long" speeches It was an old greenback and pro-silver speech, full of repetitions and unrelieved by any sparkle of wit or aptness of illustration Moreover it was diametrically opposed to President Cleveland's policy It seemed wholly designed to catch the workingman's vote Miller took the stand and wonderfully held his audience for a full hour Of course the Statesman (save the mark) called it next morning a 'side show to the democratic circus." But the way Miller unmercifully scored the democratic party whose leading men and candidates were on the platform proved that to be a willful lie. He hurled it in their teeth that as a party they were "married to the rum power and nothing more was to be hoped for from them as a national party than from the national republican party that had fostered the liquor traffic till it had grown to immense proportions Yet he spoke in so gentlemanly and good natured a way as to call forth marked and repeated applause Next day on the train to Albany, Mr Pennoyer cautioned him to remember his audiences were largely democratic and his outspoken utterances would make more democratic than republican converts But Miller crowded again to the last speech at the Albany meeting, ' hewed to the line ' though the chips flew both in democratic and republican faces. He brought down the house with his arguments and sharp wit. But that was his last chance Democrats want no such sideshow and shoved him off the track but he goes it alone and is making it warm all through the state His list of appointments will be advertised in THE OREGONIAN

ANTI SALOONIST

A WORD ABOUT JUDGE WALDO.

SALEM May 13 1886

To the Editor of The Oregonian

The writer of a letter in THE OREGONIAN of the 10th inst signing himself 'Republican asks a number of questions relative to the nominees on the republican state ticket among which is one to this effect "Is Judge Waldo in any way tainted with the wagon road land steal of Oregon or with the swamp land ring in any manner that would bias his decisions on those very important questions? To which THE OREGONIAN answers "We do not know." The writer takes pleasure in answering 'Republican's question with "No John B Waldo has no connection with wagon road land steals nor with swamp land rings. His opponents open or secret, are invited to search to the bottom They will find the following In the estate left by the death of Hon Orlando Humason of Wasco county, was some swamp land scrip issued under state law in payment for construction on The Dalles & Sandy wagon road In this scrip Mr Humason's daughter (now Mrs. Waldo) as one of the heirs, had an interest The legality of the issue of the scrip was tested before the supreme court of Oregon while Kelly, Boise and Prim were judges, and declared legal It was sold some fifteen months ago Judge Waldo had no connection with it.

Inquiring further, if any one of the Waldo name has any sins of this kind that can by adroit opponents be saddled upon John B., the following facts are found The Hon. Wm. Waldo once had his name amongst the applicants for swamp land. He paid into state treasury between $800 and $900 as the 20 per centum the law required. After a thorough examination of the land he deemed it worthless to him, and after a slight effort to give it back to the state, which failed, and another to give it to John F Miller, who refused it, he actually gave it to a Mr Moore, formerly a resident of Salem The state has the money and Wm Waldo has the experience

JOHN MINTO

DEATH OF A CENTENARIAN.

Astorian

"Major John M. Graham, father of Jesse F Graham of Cathlamet, W T died January 13 1886 aged 101 years, 9 months and 26 days having maintained his health and vigor until his centennial."

So reads a little note received in yesterday's mail What a history this country has made in the lifetime of that aged man. Born in 1784 he was in his third year when a convention met in Annapolis, Maryland, to propose a revision of the articles of confederation' that had held the thirteen colonies together during the war for independence He saw the constitution of the United States drafted and adopted by each of the original thirteen colonies, the first presidential election of Washington and Adams, January 7th, 1789, the first congress at New York March 4th, 1789 the inauguration of George Washington April 30th of the same year, the first state (Vermont) admitted in 1791 the Indian wars in the northwestern territory, now Ohio and Indiana was a lad of 14 when war was declared against France, read of the death of Washington in the papers of the day was 21 years of age when Fort Dearborn was built on the frontier post of civilization where now stands Chicago with 700 000 inhabitants and was nearly 30 years of age when the gallant Perry swept the British flag from the northern lakes in his great victory

Born when there was but three millions of colonists on a narrow strip of Atlantic sea coast he lived to see a population of sixty millions covering the fairest portion of the continent His span of life exceeded that of our government He was older than the present form of government which to us seems to have existed so long and his death at the great age of nearly 102 years calls to mind in a striking manner of what comparatively short duration the United States is and what marvelous progress has been made in a period possible to be covered by one human life

Nationality of the Anarchists.

Chicago Tribune

The British tory organs are charging that the communistic outbreak in Chicago is the result of Irish agitators and that the Irish constitute the bulk of the communistic element in this country and they call upon the British parliament to defeat Gladstone's home rule bill on the ground that if conceded Ireland will become a hot-bed of communism and a refuge of all expelled anarchists of Europe Now it so happens that no Irishman in Chicago is a leader among the socialists and anarchists or has any affiliation with them so far as known.

Aug Spies the chief of the anarchists, is a Hessian

Fielden the most rabid spouter to Sunday crowds is an Englishman

Parsons probably the biggest scoundrel of the lot, is an American born Southerner the son of the Confederate chief Gen Parsons

Both the Schwabs—the fellow in New York and the fellow here—are Germans The riff raff of smaller leaders are Bohemians and Germans, with here and there a Dane or Pole and one odd fellow calling himself a doctor is an American but no Irishman figures among the would be subverters of American civilization The Irish have sins enough of their own to account for, but of the blackest of all, anarchism they are not guilty

Some of the leading Irish organizations of this city should cable the facts of the Chicago outbreak to Mr Gladstone or to Mr Parnell so that the malice of the London tory journals may be exposed, and rendered innocuous As far as Americans are concerned the libels on the Irish of America will but show the malignity of the British tory press

He Fired the Last Shot.

Baltimore American

Nap Casby fired the last gun of the war on the Confederate side in Gen Lee's army At the time of the surrender of Appomattox the federals and Confederates were drawn up in lines facing each other and but a few feet apart The latter were almost starved, having been without food several days While the terms of surrender were being adjusted, some very good hogs came along the line, and, as soon as discovered by Casby, he raised his gun and shot one of them. The shooting of the animal created intense excitement for a brief time as it was generally supposed that a conflict had been opened by the opposing forces. The facts soon became known and Casby was allowed to take his 'forage for the benefit of himself and friends

COMMERCIAL.

FRIDAY May 14

Weather fair, with very little rain

Sugar declined another eighth of a cent late yesterday, leaving present values just where they were prior to the first rise Our jobbers effected no material reduction in stocks during the period of higher prices but the retail trade was supplied to some extent by San Francisco parties at prices below the regular scale

Our quotation of 4½c for good conditioned beef cattle was called into question to day It was given us by good authority and while it may be a trifle high for ordinary business the market is very firm and holders demand 4@4½ We are reported a sale at Pendleton at 3c and at 4c by different parties the first figure by the buyer and the second indirectly from the seller Dressed beef sells here at 7@8 Last February a similar complaint was made and inquiry showed that our quotations were offered up the valley Beef can be had for 3c at Pendleton or any other point east of the mountains the figure here would be 3½c the ½c covering cost of transportation etc The market is somewhat mixed and the same old fight between operators is continued From what can be gathered to-day 4¼@4½c is the price for good-conditioned Poor stock must of course sell for less Portland and Sound buyers are credited with buying a large herd up country against future needs Montana has also bought considerable said to be at 3½@4c pe Some buyers here claim that beef will be driven into the valley from Southeastern Oregon Mutton values are now in large part influenced by the amount of wool on the sheep's back shearlings sell 1c lower

A New York mail report says the inquiry from out of town brewers for hops has slightly improved, but that bids are too low to admit of much business as holders show no inclination to make further concessions The mild weather stimulated activity among New York growers and the more important yards are being rapidly put in shape for the new crop

WASHINGTON LETTER.

A Dissertation upon the Honesty of the Legislators of the Country

The Geological Survey Party Coming to Oregon Senator Dolph's Land Forfeiture Bill Also Government Timber Lands

[illegible]

Special [illegible] WASHINGTON [illegible] May 8—If we, as men would [illegible] frame a motto reading some thing like this "I was once a babe [illegible]—frame it and [illegible] hang it that it would ever be before our [illegible], it is probable that we would be more generous in our estimates of men more charitable, more human. We are often inclined to look more at the dark spot on the mountain than at the grandeur of the mountain itself We note the passage of the mountains cloud across the [illegible] we do not see the sky A man [illegible] commits a trivial offense perhaps thought [illegible] thousand eyes [illegible] brought to bear upon him [illegible] the power of the magnifying glass [illegible] he is an official [illegible] highest power is used The great twenty-six inch telescope in this city magnifies the nebula in Orion no more than [illegible] the indiscretions of statesmen at [illegible] unable to criticise and [illegible] the acts of men high in office [illegible] The great [illegible] either through wounded ambition or jealousy [illegible] over [illegible] words [illegible] legislators There being a demand for spicy articles it is not difficult [illegible] caterers to supply them. Certain writers dip their pens in gall without thinking of results Occasionally the framework of the state [illegible] often the entire matter [illegible] It is said of the infant [illegible] stoned to [illegible] on his [illegible] when he slept, thereby indicating that words [illegible] from his lips would be seasoned with honey not vinegar This age needs more [illegible] could be [illegible] A few strokes of the ax will prostrate the mighty oak the combined wisdom and strength of man can not again put life into its trunk. A swallow can drive an eagle from the skies. A bullet can stop a bison Man ought to remember that he was once a babe, that he will some day be a corpse, and remembering, exercise charity

Readers of newspapers purporting to publish [illegible] pure democracy are apt to reach the conclusion that honest republican senators and representatives are as scarce as wild flowers in December, readers of radical republican newspapers reach the same conclusion as regards democratic officials, while doubtless many readers of journals that profess political sanctification incline to the belief that congress as a whole is a school for bribery, and Washington city a modern Sodom "The honesty of our fathers" is a sentence we have heard from the days we were [illegible]lings. Doubtless many of our forefathers were honest. It is to be hoped they were. It must not be forgotten, however, that history is a magnanimous dame that it is her policy to [illegible] the good and blot out the evil. It is the way of the world to shoot personal arrows at the man that lives, to preach eulogies over his bones, and we are of the world "The honesty of our fathers," looked at as regards the political history of nations, will not bear inspection. Diogenes, with a lighted lantern in open day, searching through the streets for an honest man, is simply a preserved picture of the age in which he was made to figure Many of the rulers of ancient nations were rotten in body and soul. Early French and Irish politics are checkered with bribery and corruption It is almost within the memory of men living when seats in Parliament could be bought comparatively in open market. For accepting a bribe Lord Francis Bacon was imprisoned in London tower A Gregory betrayed Hungary Judas sold his Lord.

From my three winters experience in Washington and what I can gather from history I incline to the belief that the members and senators holding seats in the first session of the forty ninth congress are as honest men as any who have sat in the nation's capital for decades. And there are striking and individual exceptions is granted. It is of the men as a body that the statement is made. "Reform" has grown to be a hackneyed word, yet to the average congressman it contains a wealth of meaning heretofore unknown Only men who daily mingle with officials fully realize this. Senators and members shrink from jobbery as they would shrink from a scorpion. Let it be clearly known that a congressman is lining his pockets with bank bills in the interest of a certain measure and his influence is gone like the lightning's flash Nothing but ostracism awaits him. And further, premature death almost surely follows the bill for which he was exerting his efforts In several cases that have come to notice legislators are so fearful that there may be a corpse in an unknown closet that it is with difficulty they can be induced to favor meritorious measures A projected railroad could to-day no more secure a grant of land from congress than it could build its road to the moon. So deep is feeling on this subject that men have in a measure lost their judgment. They are unjustly radical. They are unwilling to favor conservative measures for forfeiture. They demand that every acre of land that possibly can be forfeited must be forfeited, and from their actions one would infer that they would like to tear up every transcontinental road and hurl it into the ocean. They seem to have become blind to the fact that railroads are civilizers, are educators, and that passing through an interior territory they push the territory forward possibly a quarter of a century in progress and development. Compare 1860 with 1875, compare 1875 with 1885, and [illegible] the result. Then congress said, "Take the lands if you want them, take almost anything so you build the roads." Those were the days of rings, of the selling and buying of influence, of the giving of congressional votes in payment of a princely gift to wife or friend. This is not saying that all railroads secured their grants by questionable means The statement is broader Legislation was loose [illegible] reach a man's stomach was to have his vote The givers of good dinners were princes in power. It is said that Sam Ward exercised a greater influence in congress than the president of the United States At Chamberlain's, at [illegible]'s at Wormley's wine flowed like water A local incident will give a picture of the day Ben Holladay was then a railroad king. Being anxious to secure favorable legislation for his projected railroad he opened his purse and ordered the finest dinners that the city could furnish. At one of these dinners given at Welcker's, after the usual terrapin and champagne, the great Roscoe Conkling arose and said, in substance, that it was one of the most pleasant [illegible] of his life to propose, as a toast the name of Hon. Ben Holladay, one of New York's proudest sons, and a man who, in the great Northwest, was bringing to completion one of the most colossal enterprises of the age The toast was drank. According to the version given me Senator Kelly, of Oregon arose and said that he would not sit quietly by and see New York steal from the West so great a man, that Holladay is Oregon, all Oregon, for he hears no sound save his own doings. Then followed the muffled-voiced senator from Kentucky, Senator Beck, who said that he must enter a solemn protest, that the great progressive spirit that had made the Western desert blossom like a damask rose first saw the light in Kentucky, therefore that state had the strongest claims upon him. The senator further said that he was proud of the fact that the soil of his state had nurtured such men as Henry Clay and Ben Holladay that although their efforts were in different lines, together would their names go resounding down the centuries. And thus it went on Will any one question those days are these days? A man who would to-day come to Washington with the money that Holladay came, could not get an influential congressman to sit as a guest at his table. Reaction has come Senators and representatives look with suspicion on a dinner given by an ex-congressman or an outsider. They will decline ten invitations where they will accept one. The day was when pretty and ambitious women were a power to influence legislation. That day is not this day. The days of Comanche and Lucy Cobb and Mrs. [illegible] Maltor were long ago numbered. The day was when ex-members drove a thriving trade in securing departmental or consular positions for applicants who had gold to exchange
